

Desigan Govender, Product Manager, is responsible for the Conlog offer to market across all three lines of business: Product, Platform and Services. All industry engagement, by conducting presentations, participating in various expert forums and spreading awareness through media interviews and engagements. Desigan is also part Business development with focus on electricity distribution and water.

His early working career began in 2002 as an Instrumentation Engineer in agricultural research institutions and later as an Embedded Software Engineer in a military research facility in Pretoria. His specialization into smart metering began in 2005 when he joined an innovative energy management company - initially as a Product Development Engineer, shortly thereafter being promoted to R&D Manager, and as Program Manager. He served as Chief Technical Officer in water metering company focusing on emerging sectors of smart water metering and water demand management

Academic qualifications

Desigan holds a BSc Engineering Degree, with honours.

Industry memberships

Desigan is an Associate member of SARPA (Southern African Revenue Protection Association), Association of Power Utilities of Africa and associate member of the Association of Municipal Electricity Utilities.

DESIGAN GOVENDER

PRODUCT MANAGER

Areas of expertise

- Fit-for-Purpose Utility Metering Solutions, specifically Electricity & Water
- Metering Technology and Connectivity
- Business Development
- Product Management

