

Steph Brand – Business Development Manager, CPI

Steph is a qualified criminologist who started her academic career in 2013. She joined Combined Private Investigations (CPI) in 2017 where she started as a statistical analyst, conducting research and data analysis for a wide range of clients with specific reference to essential infrastructure networks.

She has since advanced to Business Development manager due to keen understanding of the metal market and organised criminal groups.